LOUIS PONTI MEETS WITH SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Louis Ponti, member of the Blairmore firm of Ponti & Bielli, met with an accident while logging near Crow's Nest on Sunday evening last that may end fatally.

Mr. Ponti had been engaged loading logs on cars, and while standing at the foot of an incline noticed several logs break away. To avoid them he ducked behind a large stump. The stump failed to stand the pressure and tipped over, crushing Mr. Ponti beneath it. On being extricated, medical aid was summoned and it was found that the man's back was broken. He was removed to Blairmore by the evening train and placed in hospital here. An X-ray picture was taken yesterday, the result of which has not yet been made known.

We understand that but very little hope is entertained for his recovery.

Red Deer's tax arrears amount to over a quarter of a million dollars.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

Service Sunday, November 18th, at 11 a.m. Preacher—Right Rev. Cyprian Pinkham, B.D., D.D., D.C.L., Lord Bishop of Calgary.

Several towns in the province have unsuccessfully attempted to collect licenses from what are known under municipal by-laws as "transient traders," most of whom are in possession of provincial licenses permitting them to canvass any part of the province without having to pay further beneath it. On being extricated, medical aid was summoned and it was found that the man's back was broken. He was removed to Blairmore by the evening train and placed in hospital here. An X-ray picture was taken yesterday, the result of which has not yet been made known.

We understand that but very little hope is entertained for his recovery.

The large steel bridge spanning the Old Man river west of town was completed last week end and the approaches are now being graded preparatory to the opening of the bridge to traffic, which will likely be in the course of a few days. The new bridge is a fine structure, spanning 115 feet on well-laid reinforced cement piers. The arch is capable of carrying over a larger body of water than the C. P. R. bridge at that point.

Now that the liquor plebiscite question has been settled, ratepayers should turn their attention to the forthcoming election for council and school trustees. For the present council we must give the credit of pulling through the hardest year in the history of the incorporation successfully. Tasks galore have confronted the council this year and time after time that body has been subjected to criticism, very often undue.

The spring floods added no small amount of problems, but these have been met faithfully and the work accomplished is most commendable. Despite the extra drag on the financial resources of the town, all obligations have been met and it looks as though the financial statement for this year will be the best on record. Several vacancies will occur on the council, one or two of which will have to be filled by new material. Councillor O. Morgan was granted leave of absence till the end of the year, when his term of office expires. Councillor Morgan has served the town faithfully and well as a councillor and chairman of the finance department. Another vacancy to be filled is that caused through the resignation some months ago of Mr. Morency. Two or three vacancies will occur on the board of school trustees.

ARMISTICE CELEBRATION

Practically the whole populace turned out on Sunday afternoon last to take part in the Armistice celebration.

A procession was formed near the central school by Capt. J. A. McDonald and W. J. Fisher, assisted by several privates, former members of the 192nd and other battalions.

Headed by the Bellevue band, the procession wended towards the cemeteries in the following order—Mayor and Council, Revs. P. J. N. Cosman, W. T. Young and A. McNeale, Veterans, Cadets, War Widows, Crow's Nest Chapter, I.O.D.E.; David Fraser, Chapter I.O.D.E.; Townspeople, School Children Blairmore Band.

At the Catholic cemetery the singing of two hymns was led by the choir of St. Anne's church, and a fitting tribute to the fallen heroes of the Great War was paid by Rev. Father Cosman.

At the general Protestant cemetery, service was conducted by Rev. A. M. Neale, of St. Luke's and St. Alban's. Singing of two appropriate hymns was led by a massed choir.

The arrangements for the day were in the hands of the local chapters of the I. O. D. E., who are to be congratulated upon the entire program going through without the slightest hitch.

Through the kindness and instrumentality of Mr. G. A. Vissac, of the West Canadian Collieries, two bands were provided. The thanks of all are due Mr. Vissac and all others who assisted.

The jury at the inquest, into the death of Winnie Tolstrup, the sixteen-year-old Raymond girl, returned a verdict declaring that the girl met death through strangulation and that the crime was perpetrated by Joe Black Horse, otherwise known as Two Stab, a Blood Indian now dead.

Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Corner) of Winnipeg, former moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, said he considered the result of the Alberta referendum a "retrograde step" and a lesson to the temperance people and church workers who should learn that no great movement like prohibition could advance unless the need of it is constantly kept before the people and the ends of temperance impressed upon the young.

The following is somewhat curious:—William Shakespeare was forty-six years of age when the Bible was revised. If we read the 46th Psalm (Authorized Version) and count the words we find that the forty-sixth is Shake. Beginning at the end of the Psalm and counting backwards we find that the forty-sixth word is Spear.

At the annual meeting of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association, held in Calgary this week, Mr. L. L. Morgan was chosen vice-president of the association for the ensuing year, and Mr. George Cruickshank, of Hillcrest, as a member of the executive. The Association decided to strictly abide by the August residence clause.

The board of railway commissioners for Canada has examined thirty-eight cases in which motorists invited danger at protected railway crossings, and reports that all but one were due to carelessness of motor drivers. Twenty of them did not heed the stop signal, six ran into lowered gates, four passed on the wrong side and the remainder ran into gates while these were being lifted or lowered.

It is said that the provincial government will attach a large warehouse to the parliament buildings at Edmonton in which to store as souvenirs the mammoth pile of applications for licenses to handle John Barleycorn. Included in that pile will be about fifty from the Crow's Nest Pass.

BLAIRMORE FALL CHAUTAUQUE

QUA DECEMBER 4, 5 AND 6

Programmes are at hand for the forthcoming Chautauque festival, to be held in Blairmore during the first week of December.

This fall festival has been made possible through a number of local guarantors, who appeal to the public for support towards making it a success.

The programme will consist of six performances for which an admission of $2.00 will be made for the lot.

On the afternoon of December 4th, an entertainment will be given by the Swiss Alpine Yodlers, a company of seven people who appeared in this country some thirty-five years ago and has been on every leading concert tour on the continent. The members $2.00, not including the amusement tax.

Costumes of the Alpiners, and all of them possess fine voices and that original Swiss expression which is characteristic of the Alpine people.

The programme consists of bass, soprano and contralto numbers, with zither and piano accompaniments. They will also give a prelude in the evening, followed by a lecture on "Australia, the World's Curiosity Shop," by Norman V. Pearce.

The second day will see the McPhee Concert Company in the afternoon and evening, followed on each occasion by a lecture from Judge Alden. His subjects will be "The Powder and the Match" and "The Needs of The Hour."

On the third day the Vocalists Sextette will appear in vocal solos, cornet solos, violin solos, etc. In the afternoon, Dr. J. H. Rivers, M.D., will speak on "The Modern Treatment of Delinquents."

Six big programmes of high-quality entertainment all for the sum of $2.00, not including the amusement tax.

Horse feed is now being put up in bricks—and some of the horses we see nowadays confirm this fact.

CHAPTER TWELVE

The next morning we were all up bright and early, and after breakfast the men set out for Spruce Creek. And when I could no longer hear the rattle of the wagon I knew that I was really "on my own."

The day promised to be hot, but as there was a pleasant breeze I made a fire and heated water and then proceeded to wash everything washable that I could find, using Mr. Herrington's hat case of soap in the process. I had asked Murray to bring me a tin of stove polish from the village but Nicholas pointed out, "We can't telephone here, can we?"

After the house came the garden. I found good potatoes, carrots, onions, turnips, a few beans; in the half-way stage between green and ripe. "Country Gentlemen" were almost ready for use, and some rather neglected-looking cabbages and cauliflowers. Evidently Mr. Herrington believed in doing himself well.

The soil, even to my amateur eyes, seemed the sort in which anything would grow, and I determined that the next spring would see a greatly-enlarged and improved garden. When I could grow tomatoes and celery and cucumbers successfully in a city back yard there seemed no reason why I should not have even better luck with them in such rich new soil. And I would try raspberries and red and black currants, and perhaps some Everbearing strawberries.

We were on our way to explore the stable when we heard the sound of wheels, a rhythmic rumble and click that was not a wagon, I was sure. The twins were out, but I could not confess it—rather nervous. But the source of the noise soon declared itself, and proved to be nothing more fearsome than Jim Cameron come with his binder to cut the wheat.

Jim was a pleasant-looking young fellow, sunburned and freckled in accordance with his red hair, and the sea-blue eyes whose twinkle recalled his rather bashful manner. Bashful or not, he was very friendly, and when I asked him to come in at noon and have lunch with me and the children he seemed very much pleased.

After what must have been his seventh or eighth hot lunch he informed me with a high contentment that it was "going to be great to have a woman in the neighborhood," and my mission, I gathered, was to be a varied one. I was to set, an example in house making and culture and to invite my bachelor neighbors to a "real meal" occasionally.

In return for coffee and biscuits and grape marmalade Jim gave me a great deal of useful information. He had his brother-in-law, said, been the habit of exchanging work and machinery with Mr. Herrington, and would do so with Murray if he wished it.

"Dickie was an awfully decent sort, and a hard worker in his way," Jim explained, "but he was about as much use on a farm as a snowball—I mean as a pig on ice."

I thanked him for the offer and explained that until Murray was strong enough we scarcely could expect that we would do in the way of farming.

"Well, I don't want to butt in," Jim replied, "but if you are asking me to do for you I hope you will let me know. A person often needs a bit of advice on a new place, and Bob and I are old hands at farming."

"There is one thing I want as soon as possible," I said, "I need a cow where I can get a good milk cow, or maybe two of them."

"And some chickens and some pigs," broke in Nicholas, who had been silent for an unusually long while. "One of the cows is for for sale, and the other, Cousin Margaret said so. And I am going to feed the chickens, but I don't like pigs."

"It'll come to visit me you'll see lots of cows and pigs," Jim promised.

CHILDREN CR FOR "CASTORIA"

Especially Prepared for Infants and Children of All Ages

Mother: Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 20 years as a pleasant, harmless, and effective remedy for Colic, Oid, Purgative, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrup. Contains no narcotics. Proves its safety on such package. Physicians everywhere.

Then, to me, he explained that while he had a fairly large herd of cattle he had raised them all for beef, but that he thought we might get milk cows at a Galician settlement twelve miles east, or perhaps from one of the settlers nearer home. The price he mentioned as likely to be asked was less than I had expected to pay, the season, he said, being that lots were scarce and that people were willing to sell cheaply for cash in order to meet their liabilities.

"You'll find, Mrs. Aytem," he said seriously, "that most of us in this district are just holding on." The land he had good, and a man who had too big a proportion of wood on his quarter could do fairly well, especially if he has some livestock and does not have to depend altogether on his crop. Bob and I have about equal parts of timber and hay-land and open prairie, and even we have to stretch pretty hard to make ends meet. The people in the bush are worse off, it is no joke to clear that sort of land and what you can get for wood just now does not count anyone who can stick it out for a few years, will be on Easy Street. The soil can't be beaten and we are close to the best market in the West. I expect to live long enough to see this district as prosperous as old Ontario. But in the meantime you'll find that a little cash goes a long way."

His explanation gave me something new to think about. The pioneers, I told myself, were not all dead. With sudden insight I saw our situation in new light. We had come amongst these people under circumstances very different from their own, and with no direct aid as precursors as old Ontario. But in the meantime you'll find that a little cash goes a long way."

store, was the one great eye-socket. They used almost the whole in of polish on it, and on himself, but even at that it spoiled my pretty room. A store is a store, he it ever so black, but we knew that we would have to put up with it until after harvest, when Mr. Gagnon had promised to help Murray build a kitchen.

The house settled, we turned our attention to the main outfit of our own. One who was a "handy man" Mr. Herrington must have had some strange lagers. The water, which he had to pump and quite soft, had to be carried, pulled by pulpit, from the spring. And there was no place for a bath, which would be kept cool in the summer and warm in the winter. There was a rain-water barrel on a raised platform near the doorway, and though the water smelled strongly of gasoline I was glad to have it. It was Rupert who discovered the dug-out root cellar in the bank of the Creek near the spring, and though it was inconvenient and we kept our perishable foodstuffs there until cooler weather came.

The stable, like the house, was well built and roomy. There was plenty of space for the two cows we meant to get, and the low end under the sloping roof would do for the heat. I planned to have turkeys, too, and with running water so close it seemed a slighting of Nature's gifts not to try ducks and geese as well, but for the present I was prepared to be satisfied with the humble hen. And we would have to build a pig pen, I told Murray. Pigs could not help but be a veritable gold mine when we had to pay as much as fifty cents a pound for a roast of pork in Winnipeg. And it happens, we are still pleased, but we have hopes.

I was very ignorant of all such matters, but I planned to spend the long winter evenings in the close preparation of farm journals, so as to be prepared for the conduct of what I called my "stock farm" in the spring. I had my reason, and by the first of March I could have passed an examination on the breeds, habits and treatment of cattle, pigs and fowl of all sorts. The trouble was that the creatures themselves did not always go to the books. I had the problem of the personal equation. I feared that I had sometimes set their own eggs, and that I frequently ran across a temperamental cow. But I have never yet read of a reliable cure for the wandering in turkeys, or the constitutional nervousness of pigs.

We were very fortunate in getting a good cow before we had been two weeks on the farm. Jim Cameron told us that he believed the Penwicks, who lived near us, had one for sale. Murray and I went to look at her and as the Penwicks seemed honest and the cow herself had no outstanding peculiarities, we bought her. And named her Carrie, short for Carnation, in memory of the condensed milk that we had had at no cost on our old friends in need.

Diana was surely beginners' luck. Carrie proved to be no cow at all. It was she who was a near-hothead. She was the Penwicks told me, a late cow, a big, big cow, as I learned by looking wise and saying nothing, that the calf which we had bought was destined to be no use to us. I had to tell her that Carrie would give milk until Spring.

"There's no sense in getting a second cow now," said Jim, "she'd just eat her head off all winter so you'd have to get someone else. Look at the end of March you'll be able to get one with a new calf, and there's no use having out your money before you have to. Of course you might get one cheaper during the winter, for if you don't, you will have no self with which to care for anyone else."

And you need a true self-love, for if you stop truly loving yourself, you will soon have nothing with which to love anyone else."

But selfishness means you cannot see anybody else but yourself. Selfishness means putting yourself in the centre and expecting everybody and everything to dance to your music. A little boy said to his sister, "Mary, there would be more room for me on this sofa if one of us was to get off."

"Was he not a selfish boy?" Who would want to have that kind of child around—that expects the whole house to get out of his way so he could blow himself?

Some one tells a story of the sweetness of the unselfish life of a little ragged hoodlum, who sold his kit to get a quarter to pay for a notice in the paper of the death of his little brother. When the kind newspaper man asked if it was his little brother, with a quivering chin he said, "I had to sell my kit to do it, but he had his arms around my neck when he died!"

The news went round and that same day at evening, he found his kit on the doorstep, with a bunch of flowers bought with pennies by his chums, who were troubled by his unselfish act.

There is something very attractive about a girl or boy who thinks of others and forgets self.

I have read of the wonderful St. Bernard dogs in the mountains of Switzerland.

There is a house called a hospice, 5,000 feet above sea level, where the monks live who keep the dogs to watch for lost travellers who may perish in the snow.

The dogs have baskets strapped on their backs, which contain food for lost men. They are trained so that they will find the people and guide them to the place of safety.

To Discover Cause of Colds

Cause of Colds is Subject of Medical Inquiries in States

Dr. John F. Norton and Dr. Edward I. Jordan, of the department of hygiene and bacteriology of the University of Chicago, have begun an investigation into the cause of colds and have sent about 2,000 questionnaires to students concerning their chronic conditions, weight of underwear and other points bearing upon colds. No single germ ever has been found to be the cause of colds. Dr. Norton said, adding that while numerous germs have been found to be contributory causes, no single one has been found to be dominant.

In the cold season, he said, there is as much chance to catch a cold in California as in Chicago, and that colds have no relation to the ventilation of bedrooms.

Swiss Building A New Niagara Falls

What Completed Will Make Country Independent of Foreign Coal

A new Niagara Falls is being constructed in the Alps at an altitude of 6233 feet, near Martigny, in the canton of Valais, for the purpose of supplying electric power to the Swiss Federal railway.

A dam, is being built across the Bernese cascade, whose waters flow into the Rhine. An artificial lake of 40,000,000 cubic yards will be formed. The dam will be 363 feet high—the same as Niagara Falls. Its length will be 815 feet. The complete cost of the work will exceed $12,000,000.

When completed in 1926 the installation will be capable of supplying sufficient electric power for the entire railway system in Switzerland, which will be independent of foreign coal.

Woman Mayor Made Good

Any A. Kaukonen, Mayor of Port Arthur, resigned recently after a bitter fight of nineteen months with bootleggers. She clamped the lid on and beat the bootleggers to a finish and then resigned, at a mass meeting of citizens her administration was declared to be the best in years, and all her predecessors were men.

HEART WAS SO BAD HAD TO SIT UP IN BED

Mrs. O. E. Fitzgerald, 106 Ross St., St. Thomas, Ont. writes: "In the fall of 1921, I was taken ill with my heart, but I did not say much about it to a doctor. I kept on with my house and duties, but seemed to become worse and worse, and finally had to call in a doctor. He said I had a run-down and was a nervous wreck. I had a severe pain in my chest which would not let me sleep. I became so bad I could not lie down, and when I did I had such a smothering feeling I would have to sit up in bed till it passed away."

I tried several remedies, but with no good results. My physician introduced to my Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took 7 boxes, and I am now as well as I was 20 years ago, and I am now 65 years old.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are like a hot air balloon. They are sold in a box at all druggists, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Excellent Christmas Service To The Old Country

The Canadian Pacific have made available a fleet of super-luxury ships and an unusual number of sailings for Christmas travel to the Old Country. In connection with the sailing, the 25 tourist sleepers are being operated from Edmonton, Saskatoon, Calgary, Moose Jay, Regina, and Winnipeg, direct to the ship's side at West St. John, thus giving a through service with the only direct transfer being from train to steamer.

The December sailings for which these cars will be operated are: S.S. "Montclair," December 17, to Liverpool; S.S. "Melita," December 18th, to Southampton; S.S. "Montclair," December 14th, to Liverpool; and S.S. "Marion," December 15th, to Glasgow.

WHEN YOUR THROAT IS SORE

It may be only a slight cold now, but it is a lurking danger.

But little colds soon grow into dangerous. Often they become chronic, develop catarrh, and end in consumption.

Catarhazone is the remedy. It draws inflammation and soreness out of the throat. Relieves the cough, cuts out the phlegm, makes breathing easy, kills any germs lodged in the mucous lining of the throat or lungs.

By using CATARRHIZONE INHALENT now and again you keep the passages free from germs, and thereby prevent coughs and colds. Get the Dollar outfit, it lasts two months; small size, 50¢, sold by druggists. Refuse a substitute for Catarrhazone. Buy mail from The Catarrhazone Co., Montreal.

Experts Puzzled By Action of Earthquake

Some Buildings in Japan Show Strain Of Shock

Building experts are still a good deal puzzled by the performance of various types of architecture under the strain of the Tokyo and Yokohama earthquake, and opinions differ as to the ideal structure to withstand violent tremors.

Refugees do not tire of talking of the marvel of the Imperial Hotel at Tokyo. That critics of that building had declared it would be a death trap in case of an earthquake, but there it stands with hardly a crack, and only a few of the light standard vases thrown.

After the first severe shocks people settled confidently during the quakes that followed for several days, and remained inside during the day. One great story he felt safe in the hotel that outside. He did not know how it was done, or what stuff it was made of, but even the cooling kept up.

In his room there was not even a crack. He reckoned there was only one man who could come to Japan and get big contracts for quake-proof building and that was the architect of the Imperial Hotel.

As to reinforced concrete buildings, one hour of all sorts of rumors. Certainly the proportions of reinforced walls that are standing seem to be larger than before. And then, as if to ridicule theories, some of the very heavy brick chimneys were brought down.

But the marvel of the Imperial Hotel remains. The severity of the test may be gauged from the fact that the foundations have settled in particular instances. The level of the hotel has been found altered. What has frequently been ridiculed as a freak building will now create more interest than ever.

A pessimist and an optimist were discussing life from their different viewpoints. "I really believe," said the former, "that I could make a better world myself."

"Sure," returned the optimist, "that's what we are here to do. Now let us go to work and do it." Philadelphia Ledger.

GOOD RED BLOOD A REAL NERVE TONIC

Weak, Watery Blood the Source of All Nervousness

"If people would attend to their blood, instead of worrying themselves," said an eminent nerve specialist, "two doctors would not be our car."

The sort of thing the specialist spoke of is the nervous, run-down condition caused by overwork and the many anxieties of today. Sufferers and themselves tired, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise hurts them like a blow. They are full of groundless fears, do not sleep by night, headaches and other nerve pains are part of the misery, and it all comes from weak blood.

Destroying the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only way to get new tone is a good supply of rich red blood. Therefore to relieve nervousness and run-down health, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken.

These pills enrich the blood, which tones the nerves, improves the appetite, gives new strength and makes listless dependent people bright and cheerful. If you are at all "out of sorts," begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these pills through any druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Want Canadian Grain Demand For Our Wheat From Foreign Countries

"Markets in such places as Philadelphia are calling out for Canadian grain," said Professor Rutherford, Dean of the University of Saskatchewan, interviewed at Fort William on his way west after attending sessions of the royal grain commission of which he is member.

"We do not anticipate any shortage now, in American boats," said Dr. Rutherford. "In fact I understand that one American grain carrying line is adding to its fleet in order to give greater despatch."

Asked if there was any possibility of congestion in eastern ports, Dr. Rutherford said it all depended on Montreal, and it would not take many bushels to create a jam there, or at Port Colborne.

"Montreal will order grain for export as fast as the European buyers send in orders for export, and no faster."

Returns From Arctic

Hudson Bay Steamer Brings Million Dollars' Worth of Siberian Furs

Baychino, a Hudson Bay steamer, which has returned to Vancouver from Arctic waters, carried about a million dollars' worth of Siberian furs and a number of passengers.

The vessel, which operated as a passenger carrier during the summer on the Siberian coast, penetrated into the Arctic as far as North Cape.

Nearly all of the furs in under control of the Soviet Government, and members of the crew reported that much confusion exists. Through a recent treaty between the company and Moscow, the Hudson Bay Company has a monopoly of the fur trade of the country. A representative of the Soviet accompanied the ship on all its journeys. A tax had to be paid on every fur.

The officers said that the Arctic was very clear of ice and that they encountered practically none south of North Cape. They saw the native hunters killing walrus with spears and guns, using skin boats to work among the herds.

British Empire Self-Supporting

Domination Can Supply Practically Everything that is Required

There is scarcely anything required for conversion into objects of use or luxury which could not be drawn from one or the other of the Dominions. In some the production of agricultural or mineral wealth is already very large; in some it is still comparatively small or just beginning.

In all, it could be said to be almost definitely extended in one direction or another. There could be enough cotton, wool, fax, iron ore, and non-ferrous metals to feed all the mills and looms and plant factories and steel works of Great Britain, more than enough food for all its hungry mouths, within the ring-fence of the British Empire, if that Empire's natural resources were developed to even a fraction of their full capacity.—From the London Daily Mail.

The Conquest Of Cancer

Pure Air, Pure Water and a Natural Diet Are Essential to Health

Since the publication of these columns of my letter on 25th August, 1921, I have received the Imperial Association for the Prevention of Cancer has kindly presented me with a copy of his book, entitled "The Conquest of Cancer."

In this work, Dr. Robert Bell, M.D., F.R.C.P.S., etc., presents in a double column the subject, gives the following advice from all readers may obtain personal and lasting benefit.

There are three things which Nature has amply provided for us, and the proper use of which will enable us to overcome in whatever form it may endeavor to attack us, viz. pure air, pure water and a natural diet. Nature is a double economy; because flesh meat is not the natural food of man, nor can this term be applied to the vegetable kingdom, yet it is underlying the process by which they are usually prepared for the table.

In the first place, cooking not only destroys two-thirds of their nutritive value, but also deprives them of the vitamins or living principles I have referred to. And in this condition they are more liable to undergo fermentation in the stomach and intestines, than if they had been taken fresh and thoroughly masticated, the condition which Nature has presented them to us. It will thus be perceived that the use of cooked food is a double economy; because fresh meat is not the natural food of man, nor can this term be applied to the vegetable kingdom, yet it is underlying the process by which they are usually prepared for the table.

Believing that every man and woman should personally help to relieve humanity from its needless sufferings, and that the most practical method of doing so is by the use of a natural diet, I have prepared a dietary which Dr. Bell has approved. Fathers and mothers, adopting such diets, will save themselves and their children enjoying such health as never before experienced. Consumption and tuberculosis become non-existent and no medicine is wanted. Last, but not least, a considerable number of lives will be effected by a greatly reduced cost of living.

Lumbering in Quebec

Next winter's cut of the Quebec for sale is expected to be one of the largest in recent times. Three thousand lumber camps are due to be in operation, employing in the neighborhood of 25,000 men, according to Chief Forester Poirer. He stated that there was a scarcity of labor in some sections of the lumber district and that consequently higher wages were being offered as an inducement to go into the woods for the winter.

PROHIBITION TO BLAME FOR DOPE TRAFFIC

In recounting what is being done in Canadian penitentiaries, Brigadier-General St. Pierre Hughes, D.S.O., superintendent of the penitentiary branch of the department of justice at Ottawa, claims that the authorities never had any trouble with the dope traffic until prohibition came. He also denounced bootlegging as the result of prohibition not being properly enforced.

That the total value of the different grains produced in Canada in 1922 was nearly three hundred million dollars greater than ten years previous is graphically shown by a new Elevator Map of the Prairie Provinces, just issued through the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior.

A diagram showing production per year and value of the various grains for the past fifteen years is one of the features of the new map, which has been prepared chiefly to show the storage capacity of each grain elevator throughout the three provinces. By figures underneath the name of each town or city with elevator facilities, the capacity to the nearest thousand is indicated. Points outside of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta where grain warehouses have been established are also illustrated through an inset map.

Those in a position to use a map to advantage will be provided with a copy, free of charge, upon application.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The voice of the people is heard with no uncertain intonation in the 30,000 odd majority piled up in Alberta last Monday against the continuance of the monstrosity known as the Liquor Act—an Act that made not only easily possible the conviction of the innocent for alleged crime, but also degraded the morality of the province of Alberta in making criminal the acts of those in its confines who followed the tendency of natural human inclination along certain lines—in making possible as a licentious avocation the espionage of the stool pigeon, the lowest, most degenerate of the products of modern mis-takes in law making—the degraded invitation of human semblance who has been encouraged to gain the confidence of individuals only to betray them—the latter-day Judas Iscariots—preying on human weakness.

It is hoped that publicity given the iniquitous principles of the Liquor Act by intelligent individual speakers in the recent campaign for freedom from serfdom to its shackles will be noted by provincial legislators and the forming of a new act will be approached with a view to its ultimately approximating decency in its application, and giving quietus to the question of its constitutionality as affecting individuals who are really the wards of government and by whom their interests and rights should be safeguarded instead of jeopardized.

COUNCIL MEETING

MONDAY NIGHT

The regular meeting of the town council convened at 6.30 on Tuesday evening and in a short time considerable business was transacted.

The minutes of previous meeting were read and approved and a batch of accounts, totalling in the neighborhood of two thousand dollars were passed for payment, subject to approval by committees. The bulk of these accounts were incurred in connection with repairing erosion along the river line.

Communications were received from Hon. Dr. King, Hon. Alex. Ross and others and ordered filed.

Request of Blairmore Garage for electric current at power rate was considered. Council decided that power and light current should register through separate meters and be then subject to regular power and light rates.

Communication was received from the secretary of the Union of Alberta Municipalities, announcing the next convention to be held in Calgary on November 29th and 30th, at which it was desired Blairmore should be represented. Matter of appointing delegates to attend convention was set over until next regular meeting.

The following communication was received from Solicitor Putnam in connection with the Mancini case:

Blairmore, Alberta, Nov. 13, 1923.
Mayor and Town Council,
Blairmore, Alberta.

Re The Mancini Children

I enclose herewith letter received from my agent dated November 3rd, also Order, and my account in this case to date. The Order shows that the application has been dismissed. I am of the opinion that the Department will not be able to have any further legal-claim against the Town for the support of these children.

The taxed costs in this case will be practically offset by the Department's taxed costs on the first application when we asked for two weeks adjournment, and which was granted conditionally that the Town bear the costs of the first application. The taxed costs, you will understand, do not include the costs as between solicitor and client. You will remember that the case has been a cloud on the financial standing of the Town since 1919 and had not the Council and Secretary kept within their legal rights, the outcome undoubtedly would have been different.

At this time allow me to again bring to your attention that when you have any case, which may have to be settled in court the safest way would be to have your solicitor attend to all correspondence and the handling of the case from the very beginning, otherwise letter writing might complicate matters which would be difficult to explain satisfactorily from your point of view.

Yours truly,
L. H. PUTNAM.

Edmonton, Nov. 3rd, 1923.

L. H. Putnam, Esq.,
Barrister, Etc.,
Blairmore, Alberta.

Re Mancini Children and Town of Blairmore.

Dear Sir:

The Order in this matter was made by the Chief Justice Harvey today. We are having it served on the Attorney-General and will then forward the original to you. In the meantime we enclose a copy.

The taxable costs in a matter of this nature are ridiculously small. Our bill as drafted amounts to only $59.10, and even this we think may be somewhat reduced. We will forward you our bill with the original order.

Yours truly,
Milner, Matheson, Carr & Dufoe,
Per: H. R. M.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF ALBERTA

Judicial District of Edmonton -
BEFORE THE Honorable the Chief Justice Harvey.

In Chambers: Edmonton.
MONDAY, The First day of October, A.D., 1923.

IN THE MATTER OF The Children's Protection Act, (Chapter 217, R.S.A. 1922), and IN THE MATTER OF Vincent Mancini, Albert Mancini, Ralph Mancini, Rocco Mancini, Peter Mancini and Tony Mancini—War is of the Department of Neglected and Dependent Children.

APPLICATION by the Attorney-General of the Province of Alberta, for an Order for payment by the Town of Blairmore of the amount of $3633.10 coming on for hearing before The Honorable the Chief Justice Harvey on Monday, the first day of October, A.D. 1923, and upon reading the Notice of Motion and the Affidavits of Kenneth Campbell McLeod, William Trussell and Charles B. Hill, and it appearing that the application for the Order of payment is based on a conviction and certain convictions or orders made by one J. W. Gresham, a Justice of the Peace, to the effect that Vincent Mancini, Albert Mancini, Ralph Mancini, Rocco Mancini, Peter Mancini and Tony Mancini, at the date of the making of the said Order, namely, on the 8th day of December, 1919, were neglected children within the meaning of The Children's Protection Act and by such order or orders were declared wards of the Department of Neglected Children of the Province of Alberta, and Counsel for the Town of Blairmore having applied for special leave to move to quash the said convictions or orders, and leave to so move having been granted, and the motion on behalf of the said Attorney-General and the hearing of the motion or motions to quash all having been stood over to Monday, the 29th day of October, 1923, and this day coming on for hearing, and Counsel for the said Attorney-General now consenting to this Order, and upon hearing Counsel for all parties.

IT IS ORDERED that the said application for payment by the Town of Blairmore be and it is hereby dismissed.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the said orders of J. W. Gresham, Esquire, J.P., made under The Children's Protection Act and all dated the 8th day of December, 1919, in so far as they impose a liability upon the Town of Blairmore be quashed, vacated and set aside.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the applicant do pay to the Town of Blairmore its costs of these proceedings as and when taxed, such costs to be based on Column 4 of Schedule "C" of the Rules Relating to Costs. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that no proceedings be taken against the said J. W. Gresham in respect of the orders quashed as aforesaid.

THORACE HARVEY, C.J.
Entered this 2nd day of November, A.D. 1923.

J. A. Ross, Deputy Clerk Supreme Court.

As a result of settlement of above case in the town's favor, upwards of $1200 will be forthcoming from the department of Attorney General, being town's portion of liquor act fines, which has been held by the government pending settlement of claim under the Children's Protection Act. The application of Mrs. Georgeette Stevenson for allowance under the Widowed Mothers' Allowance Act was approved by the council.

A WONDERFUL WOMAN

People all over Canada are asking "Who is 'The Wonderful Heroine' whose life story—thrilling, romantic, inspiring—was published in the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal?" It is now announced that the story in pamphlet form may be obtained free of charge from the Family Herald by those who are not now subscribers to the paper.

The publishers of that great farm and family paper also announce that a beautiful picture of "The Wonderful Heroine" will be sent free to all subscribers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star, new or renewal, who remit in time. It is indeed a remarkable offer, the Family Herald and Weekly Star for fifty-two weeks and a large picture of this splendid woman, who by her heroic self-sacrifice and abounding trust and faith in God, by her sweet purity and astounding courage in the face of unspeakable horrors, came to be regarded as a living saint and the wonder woman of the Great Empire. The picture is a 15 x 24 inches, on rich, heavy paper.

The subscription price of the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is only $2.00 a year.

TO BE TAKEN TO HEART

The Halifax Chronicle, speaking of the sentence imposed upon J. B. MacIsaac of two years in the penitentiary for "sedition" very aptly and forcibly says:

"It is to be hoped that the lesson will be laid close to hear and made good use of in practice, for this province has had far more than enough of wild chatter in the name of organized labor, of late years, Nova Scotia has been given a most undesirable reputation throughout the Dominion and far beyond its boundaries, by the blatant utterances of a handful of wild agitators who, there is much ground for believing, have not been mere reckless fanatics, speaking for themselves alone, but the paid tools of Russian revolutionaries who, not content with deluging their own country in blood and ruining its industries, are bent on spreading the disease from which they are suffering to the uttermost corners of the earth."

OBITUARY

(From Our Cowley Correspondent)

Another of Alberta's pioneers has passed away, in the person of Mrs. Mary Leah Frances Swinney, who was born near Princeton, West Virginia, November 29th, 1853.

She was the daughter of the late Mary Vienna Parker and of the late Rev. David Lilly, of West Virginia.

Four years of her childhood was spent in the fighting territory of the Civil War, and many an interesting tale has she told of her experiences during that period.

The family moved to Wilson County, Kansas, in 1873, where on the 25th of November, 1876, she was united in marriage to J. G. Swinney.

After rearing their family there, they moved to Alberta in 1901, residing at Cowley and Flatburn until the time of her death.

She was laid to rest in the Flatburn cemetery on Saturday, November 10th.

Many floral offerings betokened the devotion of her family and the high esteem in which she was held by her friends.

She leaves, besides her husband, to mourn her loss, five daughters, Mrs. Olive Miller, of Flatburn; Mrs. Clara Blackburn, of Flatburn; Mrs. Della Ingraham, of Cresco, Iowa; Mrs. Lillian Murphy, of Cowley, and Miss Amy, at home. The sons are Luke, Homer, John and Robert, all of Flatburn.

A devout Christian and member of the Baptist church, her outstanding feature was self denial, always thinking and planning for the welfare of others.

"O grief-stricken one, mourn not her loss,

But believe on his death and the way of the Cross.

For God deemed it best to take her to Him,

Remove her from earth so polluted with sin,

To dwell with the angels, where all is pure love,

Contractor E. J. Pozzi is erecting several modern cottages in Belleury, in addition to his large contract for the erection of the big arena, all of which are progressing rapidly.

J. P. O'Neill and two friends ventured out over the hills a few days ago in quest of deer. The hunters were robed in white from stem to stern (using nautical terms), and all the wild animals in the country headed off in the same direction in such a swarm that forests and hills were swept low as though by a cyclone. Honestly this idea of wearing white hunting suits was never pulled to this part of the world and if allowed to remain in force for another season will cause a great falling off in license revenue.

The Lord Bishop of Calgary, Cyprian Pinkham, celebrated his 79th birthday last week and is still quite hale and hearty. He has seen over fifty years in missionary work, considerable of which has been spent in Alberta. He was born and received his early education at St. John's, Newfoundland.

When the merchant tells the story of his goods in his newspaper ad, he automatically reduces the amount of time required to wait on a customer. The more completely the story of the goods and what they will do for the customer is told, the shorter will be the time required to sell them. In most cases this saving alone will pay for the ad, while the additional business it brings will be so much velvet.

Monuments that are anything but creditable to the present liquor administration of this province include the "Barrier" and "Armored Car." The former has been in operation west of Coleman for about two years and its accomplishments in the way of keeping out liquor may be figured out in one or two measly peaches netting to the province in the neighborhood of not more than fifty dollars. This booze gate is not operated without cost to the province. Its operation has not had the desired effect to curtail the inflow of liquor, but still it seems the authorities intend to operate it as long as the present act will permit of a soft job for someone at the public's expense. The armored car has not yet been given an opportunity to speak for itself. When that opportunity arrives it is not unreasonable to expect a collision arising similar to that for which several police officers in Ontario have been found guilty.

SOME JOB

To be a successful newspaper man calls for a variety of talents. An all-round newspaper man should be able to write a poem, discuss the tariff and all other political questions intelligently, umpire a ball game, preach the gospel, beat a lawyer, report a wedding, saw wood, describe a fire, make one dollar do the work of two, shine in high society, abuse the liquor traffic, eat "moonshine," subscribe to charity, go without meals, sneer at nobility, wear diamonds, invent advertisements, overlook scandal, praise the babies, delight the pumpkin raisers, administer to the afflicted, heal the disgruntled, fight to the finish, set type, mould opinion, sweep the office, move the world, scorn the flesh and the devil, be everything, see everything on this footstool and support a family on a small salary. It's an easy job.

DECEIVED!

An Englishman staying at a Nevada ranch suggested that his host should take a walk with him to a countrian that looked close to hush. The Englishman was deceived in the appearance of the distance owing to the rarity of the atmosphere. After walking several hours the mountain seemed no nearer.

Returning by a different route, the pair came upon an irrigated field. At the first ditch the Englishman sat down and began to remove his shoes.

"What are you going to do?" inquired the Nevada.

The Englishman content-plated the ditch, and said: "Why, I'm going to swim this bloom'g river."

TO MAKE HERRING FLOUR

So many herring have been caught by Icelandic boats that new uses for the fish have been devised to care for the surplus after a sufficient quantity is salted.

Several years ago, through Norwegian, Danish and Icelandic interests, factories were erected in Iceland for the preparation of herring flour. This product is highly prized in Norway as a strength food, inasmuch as it contains 70 per cent of fat and protein. Much of this flour is also exported to Japan, where it is used as a fertilizer in connection with flower growing.

As herring can be caught in unlimited quantities off Iceland in summer time it is planned in a greater measure than before, in connection with the salting for export, to use herring for strength food and for oil. Herring oil is extracted by pressing out the fats in the herring. By "harding" it can be made both tasteless and odorless and is then well adapted for margarine production, being especially rich in body-building properties. —Newfoundland Trade Review.

A very creditable financial statement has been issued by the secretary of the Blairmore Arena and the auditors. The figures include:

Assets—building, equipment, land and gymnasium, $14,003.27.

Cost of operation last season, $2,777.37. Revenue $3,715.60.

The attendance for the season was the largest on record. The largest attendance for the season was at the Bellevue-Blairmore game on February 1st when 1492 paid admission.

Lloyd George Crosses Ontario

(1)—Right Hon. David Lloyd George as he appeared when crossing from the platform of the Canadian Pacific train.
(2)—The engine that drew Lloyd George was the last used in mechanical construction.
(3)—With his daughter, Miss Megan, J. J. Scully, General Manager of Canadian Pacific Western Lines, and other members of his party, Lloyd George admires the passing scenery.

Picture a little clearing at the side of the railway track in the heart of North Ontario. All about are the hills of forest of Jack-pines, hemlock and yellow poplar. A brilliant autumn sun falls on lake and forest and rocky cliff and in the center is a little patch of cleared ground surrounding a tiny log cabin. At its door a woman and three or four sturdy children are grouped. They are listening. From behind the hills again comes the faint whistle of a locomotive, and in a few moments the train sweeps into view. It flashes past driven by an engine of the latest type, such as engineers talk of with joy, and including six blue-colored coaches, steel built from end to end. Their varnished sides reflect the warm autumn sun. Bright brass trimmings and polished windows gleam as the train sweeps along its narrow path towards the West a thing of pride and power.

The children standing beside the log cabin are silent, each holds a tiny flag that carries to the train a message of greeting. For David Lloyd George is passing by. The little Welshman of humble origin, the war-time Prime Minister of Imperial Britain is on his way from Toronto to Winnipeg and all along the railroad the people come down to see him pass.

It was a wonderful trip. Harassed by newspaper from pages and by years of power, the man who led half a world in war, moved across Ontario through towns after towns such as this which has been sketched above.

"What a country, what a wonderful country!" It was Lloyd George who spoke. Seated in the drawing room of the private car at the end of the train he gazed over the countless lakes and endless forests that flaved past. About him were one or two officials of the railway that carried him on his way, and a large number of newspaper representatives for whom accommodation was provided on the train. It was the time of the morning interview, when the press men gathered to ask him questions bearing on the news of the day which had come to the train by radio from all parts of the world, but mostly from Europe, and to every question came the Lloyd George answer, quick and to the point—no evasion, even when the question was a little personal, as now and then it might be. But the questions were mostly relevant to the great issues of the day.

Our Mother's Allowance Laws

The Wisdom and Desirability of Dealing With a Very Serious Social Problem

(By Dr. J. H. Shearer)

The widowed mother left penniless with small children on her hands for care and support constitutes an all too common type of domestic tragedy and outlook grave enough to sorely test the bravest woman's heart. Until recent years the only alternatives open to her were to accept charity which few were willing to accept or to endeavor to be both breadwinner and mother in one. Some succeeded. Some made physical, mental or moral shipwreck. Many others found their children, necessarily, unmothered during the mother's absence at work, getting into bad company, bad habits and becoming violators of law and candidates for the juvenile court, the industrial school, the reformatory, and even the prison and penitentiary. This is tragedy for the mother and the children. It is also calamitous folly for the community, the province and the nation. To provide for a delinquent costs vastly more than to provide for the same child as a dependent properly mothered and cared for.

Hence in recent years various provinces have accepted the view that such children are their wards and should be provided for as such, that the mother is ordinarily the best person to care for these wards and it pays to relieve the mother of the burdens of breadwinning, setting her free to give all her time to her natural function of mothering these children for the province and for God.

British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario, therefore, have enacted Mother's Allowance Laws to provide the necessities of life, not the luxuries, for those dependent widowed mothers and their dependent children.

There are at last report 6,500 mothers and 23,000 children on the beneficiary lists of these provinces in an aggregate cost of $3,000,000 per year. Quebec and the Maritime Provinces have not as yet made similar provision and dependent widows and children in these provinces in consequence are left to their own resources, to risk or swim.

Those eligible are women left dependent whose husbands are dead, permanently disabled in body or mind. In Saskatchewan widows only. In Ontario deserted wives or any other women deemed by the board independent properly included. The amounts granted vary in different provinces. For example in 1922 the average grant per year per family was:

In British Columbia $52.00
In Manitoba 72.00
In Saskatchewan 275.00
We have not the figures for Alberta and Ontario.

In British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan the act is administered by the Superintendent of Neglected Children. In Ontario and Manitoba by a Commission whose members serve without remuneration.

These marked variations in the laws suggest the desirability of a careful comparative study of these laws and their working that might well be undertaken by the Child Welfare Council of Canada or some similarly equipped body.

But there is no room for question as to the wisdom and desirability of such a method of dealing with a very serious social problem. It is worth while from the viewpoint of the children, the mothers and the province or nation. The financial and national loss averted is great. The personal and domestic tragedy averted is incalculable. The young lives saved from wreck and ruin are of incalculable value in the sight of God and men.

To Prevent Future Wars

Much Could Be Done By Education of Children

Speaking before the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, at a meeting in Victoria College, Toronto, the Hon. Mr. M. E. F. Franklin emphasized the part which education of the children should be made to play in preventing future wars. The speaker wished it to be understood, however, that she was strongly opposed to making "house plants" of children, or to raising their self-control by too assiduous discipline. To forbid boys playing soldiers, she characterized as ridiculous. And she was very strongly against the idea of "adoring history with pacifist propaganda." On the other hand, history should not be written merely around the wars. It should be two history, written so that those who read it would be able to form their own opinions. "The horrors that characterize wars should not be concealed.

The average woman's idea of an honest grocer is one who attends the same church she does.

SALES OF THE GOOD-DEED BROWNIES BY AUNT DEE

Chuckles is Discovered by the Enemy.

We left Chuckles last on the ground, while he was listening to what the enemy was saying. He hardly dared to breathe for fear they would discover him, and although he was a very brave Good-Deed Brownie he certainly didn't want to be captured. He had been a Cruel Brownie too long to easily forget what a disagreeable place the Cruel Camp was. Then he knew that if they recognized him as Goodness they would be very mean to him. He hoped they wouldn't recognize him, for he had changed so very much, and Discontent hadn't known him; but still the Cruel Brownies, he felt certain, knew that Queen Loveliness had made two Good-Deeds out of Cruel Brownies and they might know him. Then also he was very anxious to get away again so that he could bring back information of their plans to Queen Loveliness. So he lay there, very much excited but keeping very still.

A big Cruel Brownie was doing all the talking, and Chuckles heard him say:

"Tonight there is no moon, so we will creep up to the enemy's camp after they have gone to bed. We will surround it and, if possible, set fire to the hollow trees. This will make them run out of doors and we will be waiting for them."

Chuckles could hardly believe that he had heard such mean plans. Instead of fighting out in the open, the enemy was going to try to take them by a trick. The poor, dear Good-Deeds, after all the kindness they did! How could anyone treat them so badly? The big fellow was talking again, so Chuckles listened.

"If we can capture the Queen we must do it. Our Queen would love to have us bring her home, for she wants her as a servant," and then all the Cruel Brownies laughed out loud at the idea. This made Chuckles so mad to think of their dear Queen Loveliness waiting on the horrid old Cruel Brownie Queen that he just couldn't keep still and started to shake his fist at the enemy. As soon as he did it he was sorry, for a twig under his arm went "snap" real loud. Right away the Cruel Brownies looked over in the direction where he was, and Chuckles knew he would soon be discovered, so he jumped to his feet right where the enemy could see him and started running down the hill as hard as he could.

The Inspiration Of Music

Welsh Miners Sing As They Carry On Their Hazardous Work

Everybody sings. This is the secret of Welsh musical progress. Down deep in the mines, where dynamite and strange bases fill with danger and death, the Welsh miner, exalted by none in the world, gathers with his friends and sings and sings and sings. Who can say that their fat-tipped excellence in the hazardous work of mining is not due in a large measure to the good cheer and good spirits which their voices carry with them to the midnight hours in such an hymn as "Huddellu," they will hear such a chorus as you have never heard before.

However, it is not in the highly drilled chorus that the Welsh are most surprising. (When the entire gathering at the Eisteddfod arises and pours forth its song in such an hymn as "Huddellu," they will hear such a chorus as you have never heard before.) These Welsh folk sing from memory in four parts, and the sheer beauty of the thing makes one dizzy with delight.

Thus the inspiration of music, possibly more than anything else, has carried men of Welsh blood to some of the loftiest positions ever gained by man. Contributed.

Thinks Prince Is Clever

Celebrated English Singer Says He Has Developed Remarkably

When in Toronto, Dame Clara Butt was asked about the Prince of Wales by an interviewer. "He is really extraordinarily clever," she said. "He can listen to three long involved speeches, extract the gist of them, and give a complete summary of them without, apparently, the slightest effort. I have seen and heard him do it. He has really developed remarkably. When he was small he was a shy, rather uninteresting little boy." "Do you think he will marry?" was asked. Dame Clara shook her head. "He says he won't," she said, "and it is a pity. There is a feeling now that he should settle down. That is the weak point in his popularity."

Spots Mayor Harmless

An Englishman was paying his first visit to Scotland. He arrived at a small town, and began to question the porter. "I suppose you have a proverb here?" "Aye," said the porter. "And does he have insinua like our mayors?" "Have what?" "Insinua—well, for instance, does he have a 'shakin'?' "A shakin'?" said the astonished porter. "Na, na. He gane loose; but dinna be feared, he's quite harmless."

Domesticated Rabbits

Climate of Canada Particularly Adapted to Successful Rabbit Breeding

Rabbit raising to the extent of 25 million pounds is annually imported by Great Britain. In 1920 one Canadian farm of burrows imported 600,000 rabbits. In France and Belgium and other European countries, the breeding of rabbits is an important industry, and to some extent, also, in the United States. Why not in Canada?

Thus the Department of Agriculture in a 24-page booklet in which all kinds of information is set out about domesticated rabbits. The climate of Canada is particularly adapted to successful rabbit breeding. It is obtained by reason of its dryness, and though market conditions do not warrant the establishment of exclusive rabbit farms, it is suggested that rabbit raising should be an excellent sideline as a source of revenue.

People have been prejudiced against rabbits in Canada it is said, because they have appeared on the market out of season, and often in an unwelcome condition. But it is added, experts in matters of diet have demonstrated beyond doubt that the meat of properly fed rabbits has a higher nutritive and digestive value than that of practically any other animal. An organizing booklet of the D.S.C.I. is quoted to the effect that milk-fed rabbits, freed from the habit of being in places, could not be distinguished from very tender fowl. The broth of the rabbits, says this authority, is as savory as that of chicken, and "rabbit à la King" proved to be delicious. An analysis cited in the booklet gives rabbits meat, 25 per cent. of solid matter as against 32 per cent. found in chicken on meat, the rest, being water. By reason of its small bones, furthermore, rabbit meat is stated to be economical.

The booklet explains how to choose the best rabbits for common use, exploitation, how to feed them, how to tend them when sick, how to house them, how to look after their breeding and marketing, and, furthermore, how to skin rabbits, and how to dress and tan the skins.

Worked Overtime on Birthday

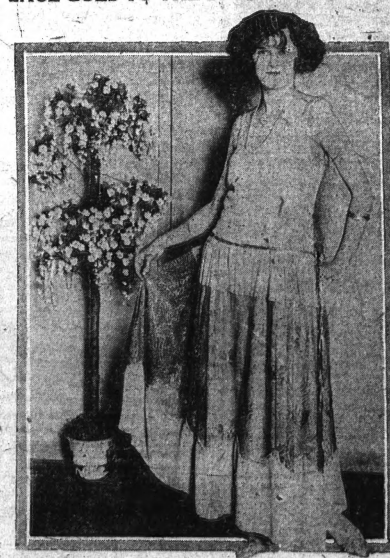

103-Year-Old Vancouver Man Still Making Saddles

Charles (Dad) Quirk, famous maker of racing saddles, celebrated his 103rd birthday. Ordinarily he works only eleven hours a day, but in honor of the special occasion, he planned to put in 12 to 13 hours, feeling he was entitled to the extra enjoyment.

"People are better working than loafing," Mr. Quirk declared. "Work gives one appetite for food and sleep. Staying up late at night is no good." The task of a couple of days ago he was several months ago, but his love for work had so far prevented him from making extensive use of the newly acquired art.

LACE GOES TO THE BALL WITH CREPE.

Lace and crepe promise to be one of the popular combinations of autumn, and the inset of gold lace in deep circular panel in the skirt of the above certainly assures the dress popularity at any dance. It has been whispered that beads are not going to go into society quite as often in the coming fall as they have in the past. Having owned a beaded frock and lost all the beads long before the frock itself became passe, we are personally not sorry to hear this. But beads have their admirers, and their instability, and the frock of the photograph is so finished about the neckling.

Packing Bees For Winter

Method for Prairie Provinces that Has Proved Successful

There seems to be a good deal of uncertainty in the minds of beekeepers in the prairie provinces as to the best method of packing bees for the winter. There are many ways of doing this, but I have found none so successful as packing them in flat straw out in the open. I put 2x12s on edge on bricks or blocks and tramp the straw well between until it comes to the top of the 2x12s. Place a hive on this packing and nail a frame that holds the boards in place to the side of hive. Now put four more hives and another frame. Continue this until you have all your hives on the packing. Of course if you have many hives you will make more than one row.

Next, remove the cover boards from the hives and put four thicknesses of burlap on top. Take a roll of tarpaper and go around the row with this, arrange your boards so they will be level with the top of the hive or a little above and about 10 to 12 inches out from the hives. Of course the frame will be inside to allow for this. Then tramp straw well down between hives and boards and about four inches of straw on top of burlap and fold tarpaper over this. Place about a foot more of the straw on top of this and a layer of paper, lay some boards over this to hold in place, or the cover board will do. Wire is fastened to the frame to hold them in place. I contract the entrances to 3 1/2 inches to help keep out the cold. The hives should face south if possible so the sun will be direct on the entrance when it shines, thereby giving the bees a better chance to fly when it is warm. This is very necessary. I think it is an inexpensive and a successful way of wintering bees in these prairie provinces.

Calculating Canada's Population

Country Could Not Support As Large a Percentage as Scotland

In one of his Montreal addresses Lloyd George compared this country with Scotland. If Canada, he said, were as thickly populated as Scotland, it would have a population of six hundred millions, and he appeared to think that Canada could support such a population. Statistically, the calculation is all right. The area of Scotland is 30,405 square miles and its population is 4,882,000; therefore, Scotland's population is about 160 per square mile. Canada has an area of 3,960,000 square miles; therefore, if this country were as thickly populated as Scotland, there would be 596,640,000 of us instead of nine millions only.

But it is not safe to base inference upon statistics without taking into account the conditions into consideration. Canada could not support any such population as six hundred millions because a very large proportion of the country is incapable of cultivation and much of it is even uninhabitable. We shall always have a vast "interior" of wilderness, inhabited mainly by wild animals and with a productive capacity measured mainly in terms of peltry.

However, the cultivable and habitable territory in Canada is so big that it affords plenty of elbow room for all the desirable immigrants who are likely to settle in it for the next generation or two. From the Hamilton Herald.

A Man of Means

Lloyd George Is in Receipt of Comfortable Income

Mr. David Lloyd George is not penniless. He receives the Carnegie pension of $100,000 a year. From his literary contracts he has, it is carefully estimated, made $150,000 already, and his future under contract assures him $450,000 a year, with a share in the excess profits. As a barrister he has a small income, estimated at $15,000 a year. His son, Major Lloyd George, married a daughter of Sir Robert MacAlpine, an enormously wealthy general contractor. All things considered Mr. Lloyd George is a man of comfortable means.—Ottawa Journal.

Replanting Timber

Stated that Only 8,000 Acres Have Been Planted in All Dominion

Those who believe that the timber supply of Canada will be replenished by the planting of trees artificially will be surprised to learn from figures just issued by the Canadian Forestry Association that during the past five years Canadian citizens, through their own recklessness, have destroyed over 2,600,000 acres of merchantable timber growing on public owned land while in the whole Dominion only 8,000 acres have yet been planted artificially in forest trees. No figures could more graphically indicate the hopelessness of catching up with the forest fire loss in the Dominion by any programme of reforestation. As if the Canadian people were not content to give over 2,000,000 acres of merchantable timber by human-set fire, an additional four million acres of young growth was also put out of existence by fire in the same period.

The replanting of timber trees, however, bids fair to show a higher ratio to forest fire losses in the future, particularly if these fire losses can be held to their present proportions. The province of Ontario has now in its provincial nurseries twenty million seedlings to be utilized in reforesting 10,000 acres of waste land in old Ontario each year for at least six years. The forest nursery established by the province of Quebec at Berthierville has distributed four million seedlings for private planting and has reclaimed more than 1,000 acres of waste land by shifting sand by the use of trees from the nursery. This is but the beginning of the Quebec Forest service programme of reforesting as much as possible of the three million acres of waste land in the province. Quebec also has under consideration the establishment of communal forests.

The private companies have also been active in replanting treeless areas, the Laurentide company, of Grand Mees, having, at the present time, more than fifteen million seedlings and transplants in its nurseries with 2,500 acres already set out in spruce plantations. The Alford company has reforested about 300 acres and the Abitibi and Spanish River companies have extensive reforestation nurseries and are initiating reforestation programmes.

However, out of a total of 50,000 acres of trees planted by private and public agency in all parts of Canada to date, not more than six thousand acres represent the total forest reforestation for the purpose of timber production.

Where Sound Ceases

Region of Dark, Cold Silence in the Upper Strata of the Atmosphere

When rising from the earth's surface, the air becomes lighter and more rarified. All of its components decrease in amount; at 20 miles up there is little or no oxygen and the density of the air at that altitude is about one hundredth that at the sea level. At 25 miles, the nitrogen ceases, and there is practically no water vapor above five miles. Above 25 miles the air is too rare to transmit sound and absolute silence there prevails. As the air is very rare at that altitude, and as no notes or dust are there, the light waves are unimpeded, unobstructed, and there is nearly total darkness and absence of all color; the temperature, too, is very low, probably approaching that of outward space, this region is then one of dark, cold silence. The fact, however, that meteors sometimes become luminous at this height of 100 miles and more, shows that there is an atmosphere of some sort at that height, probably hydrogen, helium or kindred unknown gases.

Building Easy In Kentucky

Bowling Green, Kentucky, which is built on a limestone formation that includes countless connected subterranean passages, has no trouble or expense in the upkeep of sewers. When a man with a new house wishes to connect with a sewer he merely digs down in a hole, carries a pipe, and turns a stream of water into the opening to clear it of obstructions and then joins his waste pipe to it. The city sewage, purified by its contact with the limestone, ultimately finds an outlet in the river bed.

THE REFERENDUM

Editor, Blairmore Enterprise.

No. Sir:

The referendum on the liquor question having been taken, and the result being, respectively, defeat of proposition A, we are now somewhat wondering what question D really implies.

I find that most other people are, like myself, with an undecided opinion as to what it really means and as to what legislation is necessary to bring into being the wishes of the electorate regarding the liquor traffic, and if your columns were thrown open for a general discussion of this subject it might not only serve to serve itself to clarify the opinion of the people of this district but it might be of some value to the member of this constituency should he desire to avail himself of the information thus gathered when the question was being dealt with in the legislature during the coming session.

Some people are of the opinion that question D makes no provision for the licensed retail sale of beer. Others are of the opinion that it does. Some believe that licenses should be restricted to hotels; others believe that licenses should be granted to hotels, restaurants and buffets—in fact to all and sundry that might desire them.

Personally, I am of the opinion that no licenses should be granted for the retail sale of beer. I think that in all cities and towns the retail trade should be vested in the city or town council, should such a course be decided upon by a referendum of the ratepayers of the cities or towns. If the ratepayers decide that a public drinking place is not necessary in their particular town, then no such place should be opened.

If there is any profit in the sale of strong drink, the public itself should be the profiteer. This would tend to lower the taxes and would, in my opinion, also tend to do away, to a large extent, with drunkenness and the general abuse of the liquor traffic.

Thanking you in anticipation,
WILL B. KLIEN.

THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE

The Strathmore Standard has the following fitting remarks on the plebiscite:

"The result of the plebiscite held on Monday proved a surprise in all quarters. The Moderationists did not expect such a sweeping majority for their cause, and the Prohibitionists did not expect to be beaten so decisively.

"Apparently the great silent body of voters voted from their personal experience with the Alberta Liquor Act. There is no doubt that the Act was rapidly becoming a dead letter, and was bringing law in general into disrepute, not only by its non-enforcement, but by the methods used in the attempt to enforce it.

"The province is now definitely embarked upon the experiment of government control of liquor sales. If regulated wisely, it will be of benefit to the province, though it will take a considerable time to remedy the evils which have come to the front during the past few years of attempted prohibition. These have been more evident during the past three years, since liquor importation was prohibited.

"The great mistake made by the prohibitionists is that after securing the passage of an Act, in 1915, to abolish the bar, they did not stop at that, but forced on the people legislation which abolished the right to consume liquor for beverage purposes in the home.

"If the law passed by the people in 1915 had been left as it were, it would have probably been in force yet.

"The present vote will, we hope, put an end to what has seemed to many, at attempt at ecclesiastical domination. Many pupils during the past two months have been converted from their avowed purpose of places of worship into platforms from which the doctrine of suppression of individual liberties by force was advocated. "Not all the churches were used for this purpose, but a large majority were. There is no objection to any minister having an opinion of his own, but there are other opportunities of airing their opinions than during the one-and-a-half to three hours per week which are devoted to public worship. These pundits made the mistake of invoking the arm of the law to uphold their opinions. No doubt they are sincere, but so no doubt were the members of the legislature several hundred years ago, when they used the law to bring the people round to their way of thinking.

"The people's interest in the liquor question should not end with this vote. Legislation will be necessary to translate it into law. When that legislation is framed, it should provide for the purity of the beverages sold, and also that they should be retailed at a reasonable price. Intemperance should be visited with heavy penalties. It should be remembered that the people who are responsible for Prohibition laws are not the prohibitionists, but the drunkards.

"It is a matter for congratulation that the people turned out in such large numbers to the poll on this occasion, the first in which the preferential vote has been used. It is the duty of every citizen to exercise his or her franchise, and to keep at all times informed as to current legislation. Only thus can we justify the government.

The Three Hills Capital says:

"The people of Alberta came out on Monday and unitedly started law breaking on a gigantic scale.

"They deliberately, determinedly, decidedly and definitely voted for D and by so doing dealt a deadly blow at the proposed demon alcohol cult.

"The majority dead against drink under prohibition was over 25,000.

"The people dropped on the Alberta Liquor Act and dashed it to the dust. "Seven dreary years it has dragged the province through the depths of hypocrisy and deceit. It has produced criminals where before were honest men and spread depravity in place of righteousness.

"It has not prevented drinking. It has caused a wholesale disrespect for law. At last the people have realized the desperate situation and have driven it out. We are free again."

MOODIE CASE DISMISSED

After an absence of several hours, the jury at Drumheller in the case of J. F. M. Moodie versus Sir William Mackenzie, Sir Donald Mann, P. Burns, the Rosedale Coal Co., the Rosedale Coal & Lignite Co., and R. G. O. Thompson, returned with a verdict dismissing the claims against defendants with costs against Moodie.

THE REFERENDUM

The people of Alberta, by a substantial majority, in the referendum on the liquor question on Monday week, defeated the present prohibition law and decided in favor of a law of government control and public dispensation of beer, according to Clause D on the ballot, which read as follows:

"Government sale of all liquors, meaning thereby the sale of all liquors by or through government vendors. Beer to be consumed on licensed premises and in private residences. Wine and spirits to be purchased in limited quantities under permit issued by the government under government control and regulation."

Following the vote, Premier Greenfield announced that the regular session of the legislature would be called before the end of the year and issued the following statement:

"The electors of the province have apparently spoken very decisively in favor of another system of liquor administration. It is now left to the legislature to frame suitable legislation and for the government to organize the necessary machinery to carry into effect the will of the people as soon as that can possibly be done.

"Since its inception of office this government considered it its plain duty to give the people an honest and adequate enforcement of the present Act. We believe this has been done and the government faces the new issue with confidence that it has not failed in any of its duties under the present Act. It will be the endeavor of all the ministers to interpret and carry into effect the wishes of the people in the same spirit of fairness and sincerity as has been shown towards the old Act.

"The government has, of course, had under consideration its course of action in the event of any of the four clauses carrying. Now that the decision has been reached every attention will be given to working out the various problems of administration which will be essential, whatever form of legislation the legislature may finally settle. Apart entirely from the question of legislation there are important problems of organization which will take a little time, for example since assuming office the stocks of liquor have been depleted by over $1,000,000 and immediate attention will have to be given to the important question of adequate stock.

"A session of the legislature will of course be necessary. A special session will not be called but the date of the regular session will be advanced and an adjournment made if necessary to deal with regular sessional business."

Boo! it makes you feel a new man

The Greatest Of All Assets

The award of the Nobel prize this year to Dr. F. G. Banting, of Toronto, the discoverer of the insulin treatment for diabetes, is a well deserved tribute and recognition of what has been hailed throughout the medical world as the greatest boon conferred on mankind in preventative medicine since the discovery of Pasteur. And Dr. Banting has conferred additional honor upon himself by immediately donating $10,000 of his prize money towards the establishment of a Fund for medical research in Canada.

The whole world is at last beginning to take seriously to heart the truth of the old saying that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Governments the world over, assisted by great voluntary organizations like the anti-Tuberculosis Associations, the Red Cross Society, and kindred bodies, and men of great wealth, are engaged in work of the most energetic kind not only to find scientific means of combatting and preventing disease, but in educating the masses of the people everywhere that by the adoption and adherence to simple health rules most of the sickness and disease, and consequent suffering that now afflicts the human race can be completely banished.

Yellow fever, once the scourge of certain countries, is now practically unknown. It has been isolated into a few small areas and successful efforts are now in progress to stamp it out entirely. It has been established that through the use of toxin anti-toxin people can be made immune from diphtheria. Smallpox, once a common disease which carried off people by the thousands, is now quite rare, and most of the cases which develop of a mild type. It, too, is being wiped out.

Tuberculosis is still a terrible scourge, but it has now been demonstrated that it is not an incurable disease, and if treated in its earlier stages can be successfully overcome. More important still is the arousing of people generally to a knowledge that tuberculosis can be prevented by the adoption of simple rules of living, plain wholesome food, lots of fresh air and sunshine.

In fact, nature has provided free of charge all the essentials of good health if people will only make use of them. Sleeping in rooms with windows open and kept fresh and clean by sunshine and fresh air, instead of closing them up like prison cells, if followed in all homes, would do more to eradicate tuberculosis than all the sanatoria ever built. It would result in stronger, healthier children both physically and mentally. Next in importance to fresh air and sunshine comes the plentiful use of water and milk.

The adoption of habits of cleanliness, washing the hands before handling food, care of the teeth, protection of the homes against flies, the careful disposal of all refuse and rubbish, and the marvellous assistance of the water supply—these things do not cost much money and if systematically followed do not take much time. If persisted in they will result in better health and in the saving of countless dollars in doctor, drug and hospital bills, to say nothing of the greater prosperity accruing to the home and individual through increased earning power resulting from good health, a strong body and a clear mind.

Many people complain of hard times and of accumulated debts, and all too frequently give as an excuse that they have had much sickness, with consequent heavy expense on the one hand and loss of earning power on the other. But they never stop to consider that, instead of such sickness being an excuse, it is many instances merely constitutes an indictment of themselves, that they are not themselves responsible for the hard times and accumulated debts, but for the sickness from which they or their families have suffered and which brought on their financial difficulties.

The average employer of large staffs of male and female help loses more through lost time and disorganization of his business caused by the absence of employees through sickness than he does through strikes or the general dislocation of business caused by economic depression. But because such losses are not of a spectacular kind, possibly small in themselves but going on like an unnoticed leak in a pipe, he pays little attention to them or to the provision of preventative safeguards.

It is encouraging, however, to note that a general awakening is taking place, that the work of sanitation on home matters is having its effect, that legislative enactments are following closely on the heels of medical discoveries; in a word, that the Twentieth Century Crusade for Good Health is proving more and more effective, and that people are beginning to realize that health is more important and a far greater worldly asset than wealth; that the latter without the former is of little value to the possessor of it.

Moved in a Circle

A mid-western paper reports one of the most "vicious circles" we have chanced to read about. A young man worked hard, saved his money and bought a house. Then he and his wife decided to buy an automobile. They mortgaged the house to buy the automobile and lately had to mortgage the automobile to pay the interest on the mortgage on the house. That's what really wants to a tight place—youth's companion.

If all people were obliged to think of something to say they wouldn't talk so much.

Saskatchewan Highways

Almost 2,000 Miles of Road Built, Costing Over Million

The activities of the Saskatchewan Highways Department, computed up to the end of the present season, are set forth in a "statement" just made public by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Highways. In it the comparative rarity of gravel surfacing is explained by scarcity of gravel deposits and the necessity of first building up earth roads to form a satisfactory base and consolidated base for the deposition of a gravel surface and the establishment of a proper system of connected drainage.

The report anticipates that a total of 1,775 miles of provincial highway for which agreements have been entered into with the Dominion Government will have been completed before the season closes and that the expenditure on these highways for the first year will be $1,000,000. By the end of the season the Government will have spent, the report continues, not less than $120,000 for concrete and steel bridges and $150,000 for timber bridges, new structures and replacing decayed ones.

U.S. Egg Yield

Egg Production Contributed More Than One Billion Dollars to Wealth of Country

The little hen and her numerous sisters in the United States contributed more than one billion dollars to the national wealth in the last year, according to statistics made public in advance of the annual meeting of the National Poultry and Egg Association held in Chicago.

This is the biggest yield in the history of the egg industry and is in excess of the wheat crop.

Substitute for Double Windows

Double window panes, separated by a distance of two millimeters and joined together at the edges by a specially patented melting process to prevent moisture or dust getting between them are used to keep out the cold in the place of ordinary double windows. It is said the heat insulation is perfect under these conditions.

International Agreements Have Been Disregarded

Rowell Says Allies Themselves Responsible for Chaos in Europe

Chaos and misery existing throughout Europe and the world today is attributed directly to failure of European countries to carry out those provisions under which Germany capitulated to the allies. The Germans said down arms believing that on President Wilson's fourteen points would form the basis of peace. But these fourteen points have been disregarded as ruthlessly as Germany herself disregarded the sanctity of international agreement in 1914.

This thought was submitted to delegates of the world mission conference by Hon. N. W. Rowell. He appealed to the spirit of brotherhood of men as being the only solution of international difficulties.

"We ourselves are responsible for the turmoil of the world today," speaker said. "Every nation that signed the Versailles Treaty added to the dishonor of the allies. Germany was led to believe that peace would have as its foundation the Heilsdorf fourteen points of the United States president. But the allies, greedy for the spoils of war, took advantage of Germany's helpless condition and abused their power. This constituted as flagrant a breach of international honor as the world has ever seen."

An Oil that is Famous—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is the fact enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

Deplores Pessimistic Outlook

Everyone Should Help in Reconstruction of World Says Rev. Henry

The appearance of so many pessimistic books of late was deplored by the Rev. Dr. Henry van Dyke in a sermon in the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, of which his only son, the Rev. Terilus van Dyke, is the pastor. "When Elijah went into the cave he had a bad case of pessimism," declared Dr. van Dyke. "He thought all the world was wrong, going to the bad, and that he only was faithful to God and to duty. He attempted to prove this by having nothing to do with the world and isolating himself in a cave. There are many men today affected by this form of self-righteous pessimism. They tell us that the 'great Nordic race' is vanishing, that the revolt against civilization is sure to succeed, that 'Europe is hopeless,' and therefore America should keep out of it, and so on. What is this but going into the cave? The still, small voice of God calls us to come out, to bear a hand to the struggle for right, to do our duty and trust God for victory."

Only Toy Dogs Admitted

Dogs and Poultry Are Barred From Entry

Henceforth "toy dogs" only will be admitted to Canada from the United Kingdom. "Real dogs" must remain outside the boundaries of the dominion. A ministerial order, issued by the Department of Agriculture, excluded poultry and dogs "with the exception of toy dogs" coming from the United Kingdom.

The order, issued under the authority of the Animal Contagious Disease Act, is designed to protect Canadian dogs and poultry from the importation of disease.

The temporary bridge crossing the Old Man river at Fifth Avenue was completed and opened to traffic last week and was used by the Armistice Memorial procession on Sunday last. This bridge is intended to serve the public during the winter months, or until the new and more substantial structure is placed at Sixth Avenue.

As a result of investigations recently carried out by the forest products laboratories of the department of the interior, blotting-paper with excellent absorptive qualities has been produced entirely from wood pulp. An interesting feature of the new product is that it contains a large proportion of pulp made from a wood which, although plentiful, has found little employment in the pulp industry in Canada.

We understand that the foundation of the Whittier-Farmer building at Bellevue has been purchased by Mr. Charles Emmerson, who purposes erecting thereon a large fireproof store for accommodation of his ever-increasing hardware and furniture business.

The whist drive given in the L.O.O. P. hall on Friday night last by the Knights of Pythias was the most successful event of its kind ever held here. About thirty tables were operated and between thirty and fifty people were obliged to fill the part of interested spectators through lack of floor space. Valuable prizes were awarded. The first prize for ladies—a fine fat turkey—fell to the lot of Miss Owen McDonald, while the first prize for gentlemen went to Coleman. Mrs. E. Rhoda landed the booty. After the drive refreshments were served, then dancing was indulged in for over an hour to the strains of Mason's orchestra.
